Baird feature gallery artist at Saturday's "Art in the Garden"

The 14th Annual "Art in the Garden" will take place this Saturday, June 6th on Riverside Drive in Augusta from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. bringing together about 60 artists from the surrounding area. "Art in the Garden" is family and pet friendly, and offers a variety of food vendors, plus live entertainment including a performance by the Madcap Puppets at 1pm, and local fan favorite, Fathead Davis Group, at 3pm. Admission is free.

Deborah Baird, in her first one-woman show, entitled "Forgotten Places," will be Augusta Art Guild Artist of the Month for June and the featured gallery exhibit artist for the 14th Annual "Art in the Garden". Formerly of Bracken County and now retired, Baird enjoys combining her skills with a newfound passion for photography and photo design. Traveling the backroads, Baird finds her inspiration in the beauty of the lost, forgotten, and left behind. Her works can be seen at the Art Guild Gallery on Main Street.

Remembering courage and sacrifice 70 years after D-Day

By Rep. Mike Denham

June 6 will mark 70 years since the D-Day invasion of Normandy, the day that a military operation unparalleled in human history began the invasion that led to Hitler's downfall and the liberation of a continent.

Though there are thousands of tales of heroism, each with countless differing details, almost all of the stories from that day share common elements. Each, at its heart, tells a story about courage, bravery, sacrifice and service.

Some soldiers willingly advanced into a barrage of Nazi bullets to reduce the risk to those following behind. Some stormed machine gun nests despite unimaginable risks to stop the spray of bullets killing their fellow soldiers. Some risked their lives to pull the wounded to safety. Others fell on grenades to shield those nearby. Thousands stormed across wide-open beaches with no protection from gunfire. Others climbed rope ladders up cliff walls while staring straight into the guns of their enemies on the cliff tops. Some parachuted behind enemy lines at great personal risk to pave the way for a successful invasion.

An estimated 6,603 Americans were either killed, wounded, went missing or got captured in the D-Day invasion. Many of those who survived are no longer with us. Earlier this year, the last D-Day Medal of Honor recipient passed away.

And yet the march of time has not diminished the world's admiration for what Allied soldiers accomplished that day.

As we prepare to mark the 70th anniversary of D-Day, we look back with immense gratitude for the brilliant planning, the courageous decisions and the sacrifice that soldiers made to protect their fellow man from tyranny.

The American troops that were part of the Allied invasion were ordinary people who did extraordinary things. They were the type of soldiers Dwight D. Eisenhower had in mind when he noted that "History does not entrust the care of freedom to the weak or timid." These soldiers came from all walks of life and from every part of the nation, including many from this area.

Their contributions will never be forgotten. On Friday, I encourage you to join me in pausing for a moment to remember their sacrifice on what was arguably the most important day of the 20th Century.

Heather Henry appointed to head Veterans Affairs

Thoughts and Meditations from the Scriptures

Do not let your adorning be external—the braiding of hair and the putting on of gold jewelry, or the clothing you wear— but let your adorning be the hidden person of the heart with the imperishable beauty of a gentle and quiet spirit, which in God's sight is very precious." 1 Peter 3:3-4

BE YOURSELF

All too often in life there is pressure to conform to what others think we should be. Parents may pressure their children to be what they think of as "ideal" sons or daughters. Young people feel the pressure of looking, talking and acting the right way so that their peers will perceive them as being cool. In our work lives we are expected to live up to the organization's standards and to be the "face" of the organization while we are at work and representing them. And of course we all think that everyone should believe as we do on important matters of faith and morals. But, since God created us, then perhaps we should trust that our true nature will not lead us astray. God has implanted instincts in all of us which serve both for our own survival as well as for the survival of the species as a whole. We spend too much time and effort wearing masks when we should really just try to be ourselves. How boring it would be if everyone conformed to others' standards. We should trust that God has made us perfect in our own way and strive to be the best version of ourselves that we can be. - Christopher Simon

PRESBYTERIAN POTPOURRI by Les Grooms, pastor Augusta Presbyterian

We spent four days in Gatlinburg attending five shows presented by Bill & Gloria Gaither. While I was absent, the pulpit was filled by Roger Cheesbro who is a great entertainer in his own right. He brought his guitar and sang as well as preached a fine sermon.

I dislocated my hip this week and spent a short time in the emergency facilities of Meadowview Hospital. Thank God for hospitals, nurses, and doctors.

I talked with Scott Hyden this week and he has two prospects for assignment as a minister. As soon as he is called to a church, I will post it in this column.

We will be having the soup supper every Monday night. Put a notation on your calendar for the Bread Basket Meal on June 11 at noon.

We had 55 in attendance for worship. We had 11 in adult Sunday School as we finished a study of the Daniel plan. What an exciting study this was! We are planning to do this same study again in few months. Next week we will have session meeting and the following week we will have a new study starting.

Judy England was back in church after having a medical procedure done. Edna Thornsby was back also after having gallbladder surgery.

Earl Bush was the worship leader. Susie Hargett led the singing. We had no children's church because this was communion Sunday. Jean Appelman prepared the communion elements and Bob & Joyce Gibson served the elements while Susie Hargett sang.

Gov. Beshear appoints Heather French Henry to head Veterans Affairs

of the state's fourth veterans nursing home in Radcliff.

Gov. Beshear appointed former U. S. Rep. Lucas to serve as commissioner of KDVA in February 2009.

The Governor's appointment of Henry is part of his ongoing commitment to help Kentucky veterans and their families.

"Heather is highly motivated and has vast experience assisting and creating programs for veterans throughout the Commonwealth and the nation," Gov. Beshear said. "As the department's new commissioner, she will continue our mission to raise awareness and offer services to our veterans."

Henry, a longtime advocate for veterans affairs, started the Heather French Foundation for Veterans in December 1999, shortly after being crowned Miss America 2000 in September 1999. Her foundation partners with public and private organizations to assist veterans and their families.

Henry, who will start as commissioner July 1, has received numerous awards and recognitions for her work and advocacy on behalf of veteran's issues. These include: the Patriot Award from USA Cares; the Americanism Award from Veterans of Foreign Wars; the Humanitarian Award from AMVETS; the American Patriot Award from NCOA (Non-Commissioned Officers Association) and the Martha Washington Spirit Award from the Military Order of the Purple Heart Ladies Auxiliary.

In 2001, the U.S. Congress passed the Heather French Henry Homeless Veterans Assistance Act, bipartisan legislation focusing on the eradication of homelessness among veterans nationwide, especially homeless female veterans.

"I greatly appreciate Gov. Beshear's confidence in my experience as a national veterans advocate and look forward to continuing my work as the commissioner to serve the veterans of the Commonwealth and their families," Henry said. "Honoring our veterans has been and will always be my life's mission, and I am honored that I can serve them in this way."

Henry has a bachelor's degree and a master's degree from the University of Cincinnati College of Design, Architecture, Art and Planning.

As commissioner, Henry will be responsible for overseeing the day-to-day operations of the department, as well as the coordination of 18 statewide field office locations, health care outreach and cemetery services.

Commissioner Lucas joined the Air Force shortly after his graduation from the University of Kentucky. During his 12-year career – first in the Air Force and then the Air National Guard – he maintained a reputation as a first-class pilot, eventually attaining the rank of major.

He served the people of Boone County as county judge-executive from 1992-1998. He was elected in 1998 to represent Kentucky's 4th District in the U.S. House of Representatives, where he served his northern Kentucky constituents for three terms based on his decision to "term limit" himself.

"The Governor made an outstanding decision in choosing Heather," Commissioner Lucas said. "Over the years, as a member of Congress, I worked with her on numerous veterans issues. I know firsthand she is passionate and committed to making the lives of our heroes better. I predict she will take our department to new heights to the benefit of our Kentucky veterans."

Construction on the Radcliff Veterans Center began in July 2013; the facility is scheduled to open in September 2015 providing 120 beds to veterans, in addition to the more than 500 beds at the existing facilities. The state's other centers are the Thomson-Hood Veterans Center in Wilmore, the Paul Patton Eastern Kentucky Veterans Center in Hazard and the Joseph "Eddie" Ballard Western Kentucky Veterans Center in Hanson.

Former Mason County Schools Superintendent indicted

Attorney General Jack Conway today announced the indictment of former Mason County School District Superintendent Timothy G. Moore. On May 23, Moore, 58, was charged by a Mason County grand jury with one count of abuse of a public trust over $10,000, a class C felony.

In February 2013, General Conway's Department of Criminal Investigations (DCI) initiated an investigation of the Mason County School District after receiving a letter of referral from Kentucky Commissioner of Education Terry Holliday. The investigation followed an audit conducted by the Kentucky State Auditor's Office and resulted in DCI investigators presenting information to the grand jury last week.

According to the indictment, from 2007 through 2012, Moore obtained and/or dealt with public monies and/or property, intentionally failed to make the required payment or disposition, and used them as his own in an amount greater than $10,000 but less than $100,000, thus committing the offense of abuse of public trust.

A criminal summons was issued and Moore will be arraigned in Mason Circuit Court on June 13. Mason County Attorney John Estill was appointed as a special prosecutor in this case.

A charge is merely an accusation. A defendant is presumed innocent until and unless proven guilty.

Cowboys & Hatters: Bond Street, Sagebrush and the Silver Screen Exhibit open at KGMC

The Kentucky Gateway Museum Center is announcing the exhibit, Cowboys & Hatters: Bond Street, Sagebrush and the Silver Screen, opened with a reception on June 4th. The extensive collection of Debbie Henderson of Yellow Springs, Ohio on men's hats of all types and the processes by which they were made will be displayed through July 12th.

The property and funds to open a public library on Sutton Street in 1878, which is continued by KGMC, were bequeathed by James Wormald, a hat maker. Those were the days men were never seen without their hats. We have a photo of his store on West Second Street and one of his hats, and they will be displayed as part of the exhibit. The cowboy hats are in preparation for their READ ON book this October: True Grit.

Community volunteers make "Pioneer Days" a success at Taylor Elementary

"Pioneer Day" was a daylong event held Wednesday, May 28th, at Taylor Elementary. The Gifted and Talented and Leadership students were involved in making the day special for their fellow classmates in the fourth and fifth grades. The fifth grade gifted and talented students presented monologues of various Kentucky figures and the leadership students presented a play entitled, "Pioneer Spirit." After the play, all of the fourth and fifth grade students visited various exhibits hosted by volunteers from Mason and Bracken Counties. Presentations for the day included: Mr. Bill Boggs talking about Kentucky artifacts; Mrs. Caroline Miller shared stories concerning the history of Bracken County; two of the counties' homemakers' clubs demonstrated the preparation of pioneer foods and toys; Lavender Hills demonstrated soap making and the Bracken County Quilt Club displayed their art. After lunch, the fourth grade gifted and talented students presented their monologues. As a special treat and closing to the day, "Simon Kenton" stopped by to share his life story with the students.

Bracken County Historical Society member Caroline Miller speaks with students about Bracken County history.

Special fishing events for kids planned during statewide free fishing weekend

The challenge of taking kids fishing is that they want to catch fish. Parents have a better chance of making this happen during a series of special free fishing events for kids being held across the state on Saturday, June 7.

Many event locations will be specially stocked with fish to increase the odds of success. Some events feature free food and prizes for young anglers.

The events are a celebration of Kentucky's free fishing weekend on June 7-8. Every year during the first full weekend of June, anglers do not need a fishing license or even a trout permit. Normally, people over the age of 15 must have a license to fish away from their property.

Normal size limits and creel limits for fish still apply during free fishing weekend, however.

Kids angling for stocked fish at these special events don't need fancy or expensive equipment. Typically, all it takes is a red worm or a mealworm dangled underneath a bobber. At some events, loaner fishing equipment and even bait is available for free.

Campbell Co.: Alexandria Community Park Fishing Derby, 9 a.m. to 11 a.m., Alexandria Community Park Lake, Alexandria Drive. All kids 15 and under will receive a free T-shirt. Prizes for largest catfish and trout. Loaner equipment available

The Most Common Cause of Vision Loss Over 50

If you're a middle-aged individual, you should know that "age-related macular degeneration" (AMD) is the most common cause of vision loss among those in your age group. While the disease does not cause complete blindness, it does cause a gradual loss of central vision, which is needed to read print, drive, identify faces, and perform other important tasks. This happens as a result of the central portion of the retina (macula) becoming thin and degenerating over time, which is the case with the most common type of AMD, "dry" AMD. In one in ten cases, "wet" AMD leads to much more sudden vision loss due to blood vessel hemorrhaging. Regular comprehensive eye exams can lead to early detection of AMD.

Many people are not aware that they have age macular degeneration until they have a noticeable vision problem or until it is detected during an eye examination. When age macular degeneration does lead to loss of vision, it usually begins in just one eye, though it may affect the other eye later. Any change in your vision should prompt a thorough and professional eye examination. We want to help you see beyond your imagination by providing the highest level of eye care. Your vision is priceless! Please call KENTUCKY EYE INSTITUTE to schedule an appointment. We're located at 1937 Old Main St., Suite 1, Old Washington, where we're currently accepting new patients. We specialize in "EYE CARE FOR ALL AGES." P.S. If you look at a special piece of paper with horizontal and vertical lines (Amsler grid) and see and missing or distorted lines, then AMD is possible cause of the visual problem.

Sports in Kentucky

by Bob Watkins

Reed and Burdi wait by the phone; Duckworth and 18-year-olds have options

Career weekend (and not in America, this one. If professional baseball is your passion then reserve clause a time slot in front of the teevee – Major League Baseball’s annual draft, Thursday through Saturday.

Top prospects in the Commonwealth waiting for a telephone to ring are A.J. Reed, University of Kentucky first baseman, and pitcher Nick Burdi at University of Louisville.

Reed, college National Player of the Year, is projected as high as 30th (Texas Rangers). Burdi may go 34th (St. Louis Cardinals). First, he faces an adrenaline-draining weekend as UofL hosts an NCAA super regional at Jack Patterson Stadium.

The important news is: Reed at 6-4, 245 pounds and Burdi at 6-3, 220, are men, 21 year-olds. Physically, and with three years on a college campus where they learned to think, communicate, behave and cooperate at higher levels, be polite to women, respectful to seniors, give to community, be on time, and call home now-and-then.

At 21, Reed and Burdi have a clue about career obligations and decision-making. Three years college on the resume’.

This weekend, MLB draft rules are significant.

√ High school players, if they have graduated and have not yet attended college or junior college are eligible for draft.

√ College players, from four-year schools who have either completed their junior or senior years or are at least 21 years old, are eligible.

√ And, junior college players, regardless of how many years of school they have completed.

Because the NCAA and Major League Baseball have a sensible accommodation, 18-year-olds and parents/guardian have good options.

• Choose a job.

Enter the work force immediately. In this case, professional baseball rookie league. Pack a bag, say good-bye to Mom and catch a flight to Bellingham, Washington, or Missoula or Medicine Hat Montana.

• Choose a scholarship.

But, unlike college basketball where Coach Exploitation tells an 18-year-old “... come be a pretend student at my school for seven months and I’ll make ya rich,” the NCAA-MLB pact says a kid signs on for three years.

All of which brings me to Kaleb Duckworth. Great name, isn’t it?

Reports reflect a kid much decorated at Henderson County High School. A community prize. All State (twice), Kentucky Gatorade Baseball Player of the Year and best of it: a 3.8 grade point average.

At 6-3, 210-pounds, Duckworth is a promising outfield prospect. Chance at a professional baseball career. For this weekend’s MLB draft, his name is not among the top 200 prospects, but the kid has a full house hand anyway. Duckworth has a scholarship to Western Kentucky University.

Finally, I will risk a presumption. Duckworth will move to Bowling Green, be homesick awhile, do his own laundry, be exposed to a little Vonnegut and a lot of Twain and play a game he loves then look up one day and be stunned the calendar says, 2017. And, he will tell someone special, “best three years of my life!”

America, I love this place.

LOUISVILLE ENDS UK SEASON

Louisville baseball basked in the glow of what must rank among the best weekend’s in Cardinal history, any sport. UofL beat Kentucky, ended the Wildcats’ season, pushed its record to a gaudy 48-15, and advanced to an NCAA super regional this weekend ... at home.

Initially, Cardinal fans and hometown media seemed more interested in gloating over beating Kentucky, than advancing in the NCAA’s.

WINDFALL FOR WILLY

Recovery from ankle surgery, Willie Cauley-Stein won’t play when Kentucky travels to the Bahamas in August. Tough break? Hardly. The amiable Mr. Cool on this roster, Cauley-Stein will watch a little ball, show up at practice, make a beach comb stroll or two, pal around with the guys in sunshine, and watch newcomers Trey Lyles and Karl-Anthony Towns strut their stuff.

Cauley-Stein will chuckle to himself seeing the new kids have fun without having to deal with college basketball’s premier shot-blocker next season, their teammate.

WORTH REPEATING DEPT.

√ Billy Donovan handled beautifully another question about leaving Florida or not at the SEC spring meetings last week.

“... when you start making guarantees about life and start making guarantees about where you’re going to be, that’s not good,” Donovan said. “If for some reason I ever change(d) my mind and did something, I wouldn’t want (people) saying, ‘Well, he promised, he guaranteed, he said this on record.’ I just think when you start doing that, that’s a mistake.”

Straight up. Another reason Donovan is the best in the SEC by a light year or two...

√ Jim Brown, football Hall of Famer, speaking at a forum in Austin, Texas last week, said he’s opposed to unionizing college athletes, but is also a critic of the NCAA model.

“It’s not going to be a struggle between the NCAA and the union,” Brown said. “that will just be (about) money. Put the value back on education.”

PARTING SHOT

According to a USA Report, 11 of the best 25 college football coaching jobs are in the SEC. Ole Miss just missed being the 12th. Best paying jobs? The SEC has seven, led by Nick Saban at Alabama, $5,545,852-a-year.

And so it goes.

TRASH TALK

by: Mr. Recycle Bin & Ms. Pick-Up Litterbug

606-735-9960

Howdy Folks! Last week, one of our dedicated recyclers called to alert us to the fact that there were boxes of broken glass in the recycling trailer that was located at the Bracken County Extension Office. We appreciate Mr. Ron England giving us a heads-up regarding this situation because it was a serious violation of recycling rules. As noted many times, the trailers are taken to the Mason County Recycling Center; the contents dumped onto the Center’s floor, sent up an escalator and onto a conveyor belt where it is hand sorted by inmates. Had we not been alerted to the glass, it would have gotten covered up by other recycling and we would not have known it was there. The trailer would have been dumped and three boxes of broken glass would have created a safety hazard for the workers as well as the equipment. Instructions are issued for recycling for a specific purpose. They inform us as to the types of material is acceptable, but these regulations protect the workers as well as the equipment. The only types of glass that can be recycled are the jars or bottles that food and drink come in. Any other types of glass including, but not limited to, window glass, mirrors and drinking glasses are NOT recyclable. We might add that these heavy boxes go into the trailers a lot easier than they come out! Extracting heavy, non-recyclable objects from these trailers is not good on older backs! Again, if you see anything in the trailers that you know does not belong, please give us a call!

This is Monday morning and the usual check of the Germantown trailer was completed on the first return trip from the Recycling Center. The trailer is full prompting someone to set a bag on the outside of it, but evidently, it is not all recycling material as animals have scattered the contents. This will have to be taken care of as soon as possible along with a child’s toy. Even though a toy may have the #2 in the chasing arrows recycling symbol, toys are not recyclable in this area. The largest item taken at the Center is the five-gallon buckets that have a #2 stamped on the bottom. As for the ripped up bag, we are pretty certain that it contained food products and absolutely no food in any size, shape or form should be put into the recycling trailers! With the warmer weather, any type of food becomes really nasty when cooked inside a recycling trailer! Green flies are not one of God’s favorite creatures of Ms. Bug’s and coupled with the odors arising from the illegally placed food bags, makes for a bad day! Even pizza boxes need to be emptied of their leftovers before putting those boxes in recycling!

This article seems to have evolved around recycling and boxes are an integral part of the recycling trailers; however, we should not be seeing boxes! All boxes need to have the packing material removed and then the box needs to be flattened. Any Styrofoam, whether it’s peanuts or Styrofoam forms, needs to be put in the trash for Rumpke pickup. Any paper or cardboard packing can be recycled in the trailers and if the packing is bubble wrap or air packs, these can be put into the box at the Brooksville Post Office for folks to reuse. May was a very good month for recycling and we encourage everyone to continue to RECYCLE, REUSE and REDUCE to keep God’s earth clean, green and beautiful! Be seen’ you – Bin & Bug.

Public Notices

NOTICE

To The Person or Persons Who Removed Flowers From The Case/Wood Graves At Bracken Memorial Cemetery

SHAME ON YOU! That is the lowest of lows, in addition to being a felony. When your friends and neighbors compliment your two beautiful planters of hybrid red geraniums that are on your porch, deck or yard, are you going to tell them how and where they were obtained? Or are you going to add lying to stealing? Those flowers were placed there to honor the dead, yet you chose to remove them between 7:30 p.m. on Saturday and noon on Sunday, before Memorial Day even arrived. The decent thing would be to return them where you found them.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING GROUNDWATER AND WELLHEAD PROTECTION IN AUGUSTA, KENTUCKY

All residents, public officials, and business owners are encouraged to attend a public meeting concerning the protection of the City of Augusta and Bracken County Water District's water supply through Wellhead Protection. Wellhead Protection is the prevention of groundwater contamination by management of potential contaminant sources within a designated land area around a well or spring. The Augusta Regional Water Treatment Plant is currently in the process of reviewing and updating their Wellhead Protection Plan in accordance with 401 KAR 4:220, and will submit a 5 year update of the original plan to the Division of Water following this meeting.

During the meeting, information about management strategies for potential contaminant sources will be discussed. This often includes the implementation of Groundwater Protection Plans for businesses and residences. In accordance with 501 KAR 5:037, Groundwater Protection Plans ensure protection for all current and future uses of groundwater and prevent groundwater pollution. Regulated activities include septic systems, underground and above ground storage tanks, and hazardous chemical storage.

The meeting will be held on Wednesday, June 18, 2014 at 5:30 p.m. at Augusta City Hall, 219 Main Street. Your feedback and participation are essential to ensure current and future protection of the City of Augusta and Bracken County Water District's groundwater. Any questions concerning this meeting should be directed to Jessica Moore (Kentucky Division of Water, (502) 564-3410, jessica.moore2@ky.gov).

The 400 Mile Sale Across Kentucky happening next week!

The 400 Mile Sale across Kentucky that goes through 60 communities along Historic Hwy 68 starts next Thursday June 5 - Sunday June 8th. Next week, thousands of shoppers from as far away as California, Canada and even Alaska will be coming to Kentucky to "shop til they drop". They come from every where! There will even be three buses of shoppers this year coming from Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Iowa who have left room on their buses for all the treasures they plan to buy!

This is the 11th year for the event and it just keeps growing drawing people from further and further away who plan their vacations to coincide with the Sale. There will be hundreds of yard sales and items for sale posted on their website. Just go to <http://400mile.com/> then click on "yard sale locations". More being added daily!

The 400 Mile Sale is a way to get people off the major highways and interstates and back onto the old roads and into the small communities to spend money and rediscover the many wonderful "itty bitty cities" that make up Kentucky. The 400 Mile Sale is a fun way to reacquaint with neighbors and friends and make new friends along the way!

Miller Lumber Co. Announces New Online Ordering Website

Miller Lumber Company in Augusta is pleased to announce the launch of its new website - www.millerlumber.co. Trying to enhance their customer's ordering capabilities, the new site will allow customers to order over 50,000 items from Miller Lumber's hardware distributor, House Hasson Hardware Company.

The new website will offer online ordering, monthly specials, how to videos, and links to various vendors. "We've been working on this website with IT professionals involved with House Hasson Hardware since last October. Everyone knows in today's technological world, online ordering and shipment is the new norm. We hope this will give our customers another avenue to buy from us," says Craig Miller. "The only minor thing to remember is the web address is .co instead of

.com. They also helped us create a Facebook page that is established and we will begin having weekly specials listed on there. So, we ask everyone to like us on Facebook, as well."

The ordering process is easy. Once on the site, you set up a login username and password. You then search through a 10 category sub-heading that leads you through over 50,000 products. The entire transaction is done through a PayPal account and the order is then sent to Miller Lumber via email. Once they receive the email order and confirmation, they order the products on a Thursday and they are delivered to Miller Lumber on Monday. If anyone has questions regarding the ordering process, please contact Craig Miller at 800-643-4426 and he can help guide you through the system.
